Carson leadership envy of neighbor

Thank you for your articles on Carson downtown economic and cultural development. You don't realize and don't appreciate leadership until you don't have it.

Dear Carson residents, please support your elected leaders and continue to elect leaders that support a mindset that says "When there is turmoil there is opportunity."

Carson seems to have developed a motto "Every accomplishment starts with the decision to try." You say that each new development must add to the value of your community and value to the region. Carson is clearly becoming a destination town for all age groups. You are building a community that wants to advance with core services such as transportation, education and better paying jobs. How you live and think in the present will define your future.

Perhaps residents of Dayton will support Carson projects. Where else will our residents find better paying jobs, shopping, entertainment and cultural activities for young and old?

In Lyon County we elect only those who believe in "No Can Do." Our politicians mindset is: "Not now, maybe never and don't even think about it."
